

The Golden Rule

Long u-silent e (u as in tube)

In many cultures, there is a Golden Rule that rules how we treat others. In American culture, the Golden Rule is: "Treat others as you want to be treated." To follow the Golden Rule, you think about how life is for other people. You think about how you would like to be treated if you were in their life. Then you use this guide the way you talk, act, and treat people. It is not easy to follow the Golden Rule. We tend to think about us first, not others.
